

Patrick Zamora

PROVISIONING AGENT, DENVER

For more than three decades, Patrick Zamora has served others in some capacity—whether it be as a sergeant in the New Mexico Army National Guard or as a husband, father, and, most recently, grandfather. Patrick LUVs serving others so much that he has spent his 11-year career with Southwest Airlines attending to both our Internal and External Customers as a Ramp Agent and Provisioning Agent at our Las Vegas, Albuquerque, Philadelphia, Baltimore/Washington, Oakland, Reno, and Denver Stations. With all of that moving around, chances are you've seen him around our system.

In fact, you may be sitting back on a Southwest flight right now, enjoying delicious refreshments that Patrick supplied. Among other duties, Patrick and his Team-members see to it that each and every Southwest LUV jet is stocked with drinks, ice, snacks, and other items—even those distinctive heart-shaped stir sticks!

Other areas where Patrick LUVs to serve are his local Ronald McDonald House—one of Southwest's longstanding charities—and Southwest's Companywide Culture Committee. For fun, Patrick enjoys cruising the streets of the Mile High City on his Harley-Davidson motorcycle.

Patrick and his fellow veterans understand the value of Freedom, and every American owes them a debt of gratitude. He doesn't take for granted the Freedom our country affords us, and he appreciates the Freedoms his Company extends as well, like the Freedom to travel. Patrick, his wife Karen, sons Chris and Josh, daughter Marissa, and other friends and family members feel blessed to be able to stay connected through Southwest's Employee travel benefits. Patrick is thankful to be able to share life's precious moments with all his loved ones.

Patrick celebrated a milestone birthday on March 17, and he is quick to acknowledge his faith and the support of his family and friends—including his Southwest Airlines Family and Friends—for getting him through some of life's most difficult challenges.

Southwest Airlines thanks you, Patrick, for giving your all every day. Happy belated birthday—we hope the next 50 years bring you as much happiness and LUV as the past 50! —Hollye Chacon

Delivery Duty
Patrick carries out the task of stocking planes.